

Real. Not Real. Debut

The ensemble and artistic directors of (it's no) drama are excited for their upcoming performance of the original work Real. Not Real.

(it's no) drama is an inclusive theatre ensemble of people with and without disability, based in South Gippsland, who develop and show original physical and movement theatre works.

Real. Not Real. is the second performance piece by the group following the well-attended Unreserved show in October 2017. The free show will be held at 2.00pm on 29 March in Mesley Hall, Leongatha.

Founder of (it's no) drama Emily Ardley was proud to see everyone involved dedicating their time and effort towards Real. Not Real.

"It's amazing how many people have joined the ensemble! They have given their heart and soul to this, they bring so much of their lives to it.

"It's been wonderful to continue to work with Rawcus Theatre Company as mentors and Samara Cunningham and Jenneke Kilstra-Shone as artistic directors and step into a new space with Michael Green from Drift Media in terms of media production," said Ms Ardley.

Those wanting to attend are encouraged to contact Alisha Gilliland to book a ticket and advise of any access requirements at alisha.gilliland@southgippsland.vic.gov.au or contact 5662 9200 or 0428 629 276.

The Real. Not Real. project is proudly supported by Regional Arts Victoria, South Gippsland Shire Council and Rawcus Theatre Company.
