

Coal Creek Ready for Geekfest

Coal Creek Community Park and Museum is hosting Geekfest again this year on Sunday 7 July 2019 with a fun-filled retro theme.

The day will be held from 10.00am to 4.30pm with a range of stalls, presentations and food vendors scattered throughout the park. A number of activities will be taking place including a paint and take workshop and prizes for the best dressed male, female and child.

Four exciting presentations will be available for visitors to view including Alternate Worlds from Joe Italiano. Joe will present on all things fan collectable and share his knowledge on comic books and the history of role playing.

Owen Hill, the founder of Microbee – Australia’s own personal computer, will also provide a thorough history of the evolution of computers.

The remaining presenters James Graewolfe and Bree Frost will be discussing their experience in costume design and their successes in this field.

South Gippsland Shire Council’s Manager Economic Development and Tourism Renae Littlejohn encouraged everyone to attend the day.

“Geekfest is looked forward to every year by our community members and visitors. It’s wonderful seeing our visitors dress up and taking an active part in the event. I have no doubt this year will bring another successful festival,” said Ms Littlejohn.

Tickets are now on sale for $15 per adult, $10 per child and $5 for an observer. For more information on the event and to purchase tickets please visit
