Tourism jobs boost

You may recall an announcement from a few weeks ago regarding travel vouchers from the Victorian Government. Well, the time has come and those vouchers are now available.

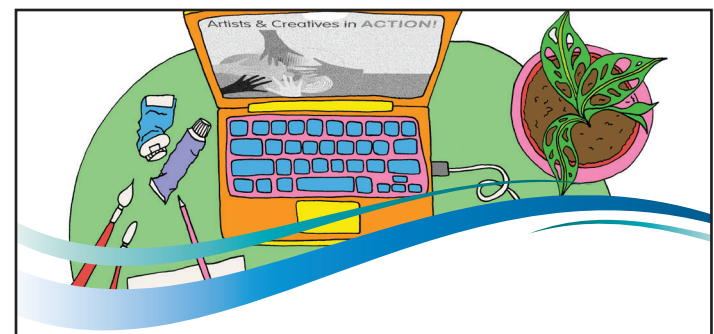

The idea behind the vouchers is to get families to holiday in regional Victoria to help kickstart tourism recovery. Many of these areas were impacted first by bushfires, then by COVID-19 and desperately need visitors to pump some money into local economies.

There are up to 120,000 vouchers available over the course of the scheme, with 40,000 released now.

They are valued at $200 when the family spends a minimum of $400 on accommodation, experiences or tours.

In South Gippsland, we are expecting to welcome many visitors through this scheme. With so many things to see, do and experience locally, its no wonder tourism publications have been singing our praises.

Wilson's Promontory is set to be one of the key locations for travellers, but there is no doubt all of South Gippsland will receive an increase in visitors. We look forward to welcoming them.
