South Gippsland Shire visitor economy to new heights.

SOUTH GIPPSLAND SHIRE COUNCIL

2021 - 2031

Acknowledgement of Country

Council acknowledges the traditional custodians of this land and their enduring relationship with Country. Council aspires to strengthen our partnerships and supports Aboriginal participation in management processes for land and natural resources. We recognise Australia's rich cultural heritage and aim to encourage integrated decision making now and in the future.

Acknowledgements

Council would like to acknowledge and thank the business, community and agency representatives involved in this report. We thank them for meeting the project team, attending consultation sessions, and providing feedback throughout its development.

Foreword

South Gippsland is a beautiful place to live and a beautiful place to visit. Our location, landscape, climate and community create opportunities for the entire region to benefit from increased tourism.

Visitors are already important to the South Gippsland region. We estimate the economic benefits to be $114 million per year and growing. Visitors are attracted to the pristine nature of the area, the abundant natural attractions and a rare authenticity. South Gippsland is not pretentious. We are home to real people who are passionate about our area and proud of what we produce. Our attractions and experiences can be understated and sometimes even a little rough around the edges, but we wouldn't have it any other way.

To the south of the region is the ocean, with frequent pockets of calm amongst an otherwise wild and rugged coastline. Water activities abound in this area. Swimming, surfing, windsurfing, kayaking and fishing are all popular. During summer visitors flock to our coastal hamlets with many featuring sweeping beaches with views all the way to Wilsons Promontory.

This Visitor Economy Strategy highlights what South Gippsland Shire Council aims to do to increase visitation and economic spend. It focuses on what Council can do to attract regional investment and infrastructure. The strategy details key themes for the future and is action specific. This is a functional working document we can use to make future tourism-related decisions. But we know we need to be flexible and adapt to change. COVID-19 taught us how important it is to be adaptable. We need to keep kicking goals even when the goalposts are moving.

We formed the Strategy under the guidance of the Visitor Economy Strategy Advisory Group (VESAG). Council established VESAG to bring together experts from different industry sectors to oversee the Strategy's development. We value the input from these members who shared their experience and knowledge of a broad cross section of industries.

We would also like to thank every member of the South Gippsland community who provided feedback. They shared ideas about how our region can develop and address the needs of our visitors now, and in the future.

I acknowledge Council Administrators Julie Eisenbise, Rick Brown and Christian Zahra who took the initiative to develop this strategy. Their strong commitment to the process will benefit the local community and visitor economy for years to come.

South Gippsland's best chance for success will come from partnerships and collaboration. We look forward to future prosperity in South Gippsland as we work with the community to implement this strategy.

South Gippsland is home to a beautiful and diverse landscape from lush rolling hills, outstanding views, pristine ocean, to farming pastures and pockets of lush rainforests.

Executive summary

The South Gippsland Visitor Economy Strategy 2021-2031 provides a guide for our Shire to face challenges and embrace new opportunities.

The strategy is designed to achieve South Gippsland Shire Council's vision that the Shire is a destination of choice for local and international visitors. With increased visitation, we can increase the contribution of the visitor economy across the region. Council wants to increase our current annual visitation of around 1.2 million people, which is currently worth around $114 million to our local economy.

Despite the impact of COVID-19 and border closures in recent times, we are confident this strategy will allow us to grow visitation. This strategy will enable tourism operators, food and beverage businesses, retail and accommodation providers to seize the opportunities that come from Australians redirecting their travel dollars to domestic travel. Better marketing the range of attractions and encouraging visitors to stay longer will allow South Gippsland to gain a bigger slice of the $32.5 billion tourism spend in the state.

Council focused the strategy on actions built around six strategic themes. This will maximise the positive impact of the strategy in the most practical way.

1. Increasing marketing and promotion
2. Supporting visitor economy infrastructure
3. Diversifying and expanding products and experiences
4. Enhancing visitor servicing
5. Building partnerships
6. Providing business development and support

Established to support the development of the strategy, the Visitor Economy Strategy Advisory Group (VESAG) will continue to provide expertise as we move to implementing the strategy. Annual Action Plans will include the delivery of specific projects, with clear and measurable outcomes. The following set of principles will guide the way Council implements these actions. This will increase our success and balance the economic, social and environmental outcomes.

- Enabling and solutions focussed
- People-centric
- Building community wealth
- Strengthening resilience
- Inclusive
- Triple bottom line
- Evidenced based decision making

We based the strategy on a knowledge of the strengths and opportunities of the South Gippsland Visitor Economy. A wide range of inputs from many contributors and an understanding of leading visitor and economic development practice added insight and depth to the Strategy.

Through its action oriented approach to implementing the strategy, Council seeks to deliver its vision for a thriving local economy through a strong and diverse visitor economy sector.

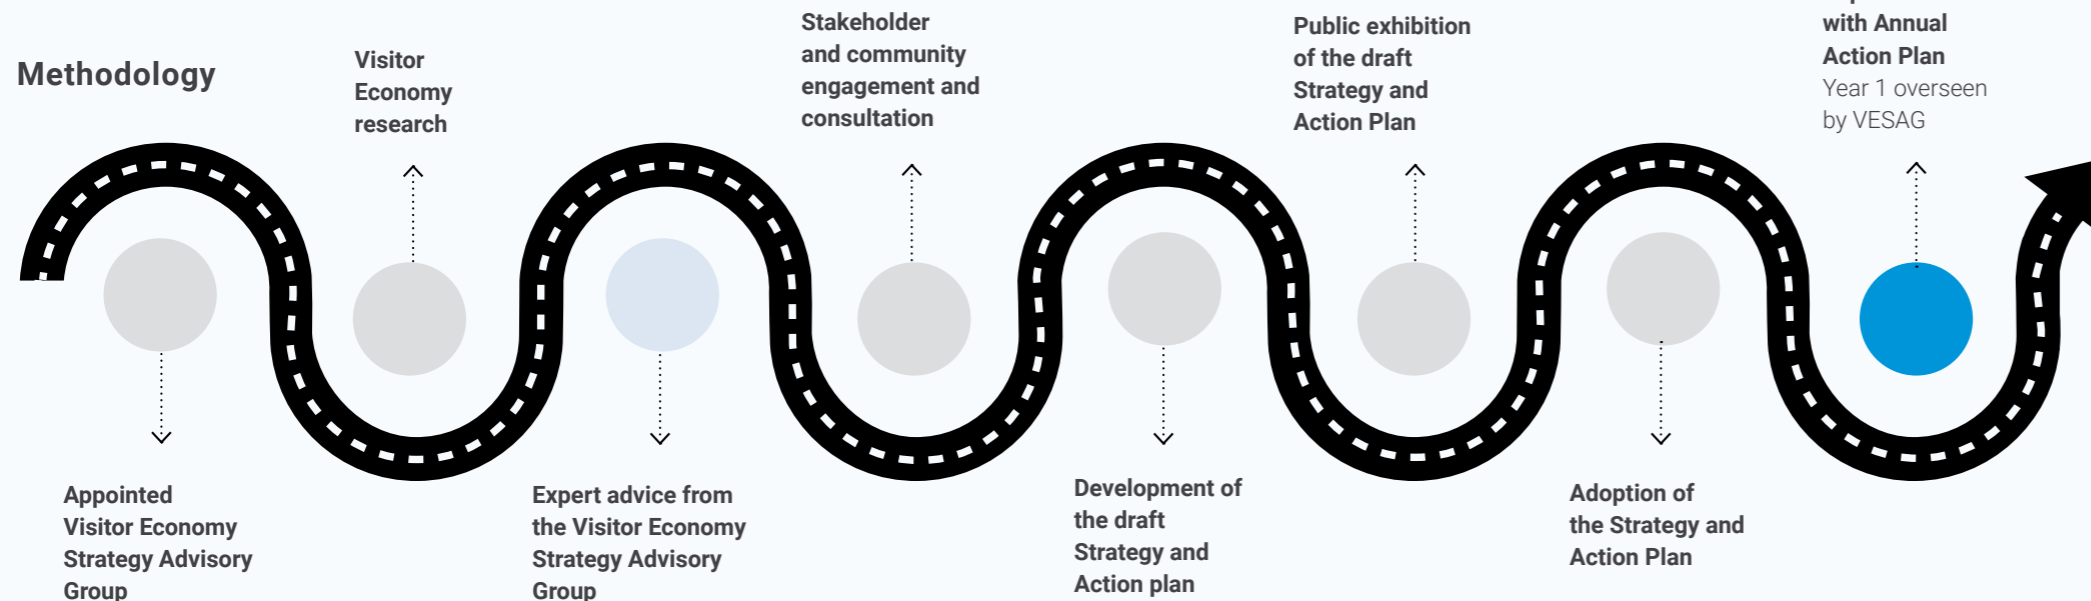

Developing the Visitor Economy Strategy

Local government plays a significant and diverse role in the visitor economy. The infrastructure and amenities enjoyed by visitors are largely thanks to local government. The work of local government directly affects the visitor's impressions and experiences in a destination. It also plays a critical role in engaging the community and creating positive social outcomes.

Supporting and developing the visitor economy requires a collaborative approach. As the saying goes "Tourism is everybody's business". Council, businesses and the community all play a role in providing an outstanding visitor experience. For this reason, Council was keen to involve a broad cross-section of stakeholders to develop this strategy.

Methodology

A comprehensive methodology was developed to oversee the strategy. It involved a number of components with a clear consultative approach. Key themes have been developed from a combination of community feedback, stakeholder engagement, expert knowledge, research and current industry trends.

Consultation

We engaged Gippsland-based consultancy firm Aerium to conduct community consultation. Business operators, visitors, local groups and community members provided feedback through surveys, one-on-one meetings, workshops and Social Pinpoint, an online engagement platform.

We received nearly 400 pieces of feedback between March and May 2021. The responses from the consultations, and additional feedback received during a two-week public exhibition period, were collated and used to inform the strategy development.

VESAG were key contributors, helping to inform and guide development of the consultation process and strategy development.

Research

Council undertook research including reviewing tourism strategies from similar sized regional destinations and key tourism stakeholders. It also examined current and emerging visitor trends and economic data from Tourism Research Australia, REMPLAN and Spendmapp.

The research process highlighted potential benefits and limitations. It also provided insights into where South Gippsland fits in the National and State tourism structure.

Development

From this, Council developed key themes and created an action plan to address tourism issues. The action plan delivers practical solutions that Council and strategic partners, can deliver over the next 10 years. The action plan is intended to be a live document to respond to challenges, opportunities and changes in policy direction.

Visitor Economy Strategy Advisory Group Members

Council established the Visitor Economy Strategy Advisory Group (VESAG) to develop this strategy. The group brings together experts from different areas of the visitor economy to advise and guide Council with the development of the Strategy. We appointed members based on their industry experience and unique backgrounds.

Renae Harvin (Chair) – Renae has a strong marketing and strategic planning background. She has over 10 years of experience in disaster recovery focusing strongly on disaster resilience in small businesses and communities.

Dr. Gabby Walters – Gabby holds a PhD in tourist psychology and tourism marketing. She's an expert in tourist profiling, effective destination promotion and a specialist in disaster recovery. With 30 years of experience in the industry, she has a broad understanding of tourism.

Angela Moseley – Angela operates Australian Cycling Holidays and her business builds navigation applications for cyclists and hikers. She has extensive knowledge of the broader international and domestic market, and understands the region's visitor profiles.

Andrew Davies – Andrew has over 30 years of experience in park management, regional tourism and commercial management. He has worked closely with Aboriginal traditional owners in Victoria and the Northern Territory

Rhett McLaren – Rhett has extensive experience in the music and events industry, and a thorough knowledge of the region. He operates South Gippsland's largest commercial event and has strong industry networks.

Greg Harrison – Greg has extensive experience in strategic and infrastructure planning, and economic development. He is currently working to assist the Department of Transport in the planning and procurement of COVID-19 response initiatives. Greg is a board member of Destination Phillip Island and has experience in investment attraction and industry development

Bridget Crowe – Bridget has strong connections with regional Arts networks and extensive experience in strategic and regional planning. She's owned and managed tourism businesses, including accommodation and food, and has a strong understanding of the visitor market and consumer expectations.

Introduction

South Gippsland Shire is located 90 minutes south east of Melbourne on the edge of Melbourne's eastern growth corridor, one of the fastest growing areas in Victoria. It is best known for its rolling green hills, spectacular coastline, traditional country towns and villages, and the world-famous Wilsons Promontory National Park.

The Shire has a robust economy, closely linked to food production with both major agricultural and food manufacturing sectors. It is one of the most important dairy production areas in Australia with 10% of Victoria's dairy farms. Its major towns are Leongatha, Korumburra, Mirboo North and Foster. Other towns include Nyora, Poowong, Loch, Bena, Kongwak, Tarwin Lower, Venus Bay, Koonwarra, Meeniyan, Dumbalk, Fish Creek, Yanakie, Sandy Point, Port Franklin, Toora, Welshpool and Port Welshpool.

It is home to 30,000 people and supports over 11,000 jobs in 3,700 businesses. The vast majority small businesses employing less than 20 staff. The Shire has an annual economic output of $3.8 billion and Gross Regional Product (GRP) of $1.85 billion. It has low unemployment and high productivity, with a GRP per worker of over $166,000.

The South Gippsland Visitor Economy Strategy (2021–2031) will help Council develop and grow the visitor economy. The visitor economy is a valued sector of South Gippsland's economy. We have developed this strategy alongside the Council's Economic Development Strategy (2021–2031).

The successful implementation of this strategy requires multi-stakeholder partnerships and collaborations. Only by working together can Council and the community create opportunities to benefit the whole region.

From exploring the walking trails of the Prom and the region to discovering our vibrant arts culture, boutique events and exciting markets, there's something for every visitor.

Great Southern Rail Trail (GSRT)

The popular 72km trail winds its way from Leongatha to Port Welshpool. Walkers, cyclists and horse riders take in spectacular vistas of rich farmland, historical bridges and water views across Corner Inlet and Wilsons Promontory. A planned extension from Leongatha to Nyora will increase tourism opportunities for towns along the new route.

Wilson's Promontory National Park

The 'Prom' as it is affectionately known, is the most popular attraction in South Gippsland. The Prom is over 50,000 hectares of wilderness and has some of Victoria's most spectacular natural scenery. It attracts over 500,000 visitors annually.

A nature lovers' paradise

The region has a diverse landscape, providing a range of walking trails and outdoor activities, including:

- The Grand Ridge Rail Trail – a 13km trail from Mirboo North to Boolarra
- Agnes Falls near the township of Toora
- The iconic 800m Port Welshpool Long Jetty

The South Gippsland visitor economy

South Gippsland is a nature lovers paradise and a popular tourism destination. Visitors enjoy the spectacular coastline and rolling hills, boutique food and drink experiences, rail trails, vibrant arts community and events calendar. Unique towns and villages scattered throughout the region add to the experience.

Accommodation choices include motels, caravan and camping, self-catering, holiday homes, bed and breakfasts. The accommodation sector is mainly boutique style. But there is an opportunity for a branded motel, large style accommodation and conference facilities.

South Gippsland has become a competitive visitor destination with visitation increasing 100% between 2009 and 2019.

The region has seen an increase in tours. These include water-based and Prom focused activities, cycling, and specialised food and beverage experiences.

There has also been growth in the diversity of tourism-related businesses and increased product development in the last 10 years. This includes large-scale infrastructure projects such as the Port Welshpool Long Jetty and the extension of the Great Southern Rail Trail.

1.2 million visitors (doubled from 2009 to 2019) contributes $114 million to the local economy

A strong and vibrant visitor economy to support South Gippsland

The visitor economy and tourism are linked. But it is so much broader. Our visitor economy refers to the money that any visitor spends in the region. That includes international, interstate and Victorians travelling in their own state. It covers people visiting on holidays, for business, education or visiting family and friends.

The visitor economy includes all spending, not just on tourism experiences.

For example, a visitor may buy local wine and food, use local transport or buy groceries. The money spent by tourists flows into industries such as beverages, tourism, agriculture, retail and transport.

This creates jobs in the tourism industry and complementary sectors.

South Gippsland visitor snapshot

In 2019, the total tourism spend in Victoria was $32.5 billion. Almost 45% of this came from Victorians travelling around their home state.

Over 1.2 million visitors travelled to South Gippsland in 2019. Most of these were domestic day visitors, followed by domestic overnight visitors. Encouraging visitors to stay longer and see more of the region provides an opportunity to grow the visitor economy.

Most visitors come to visit family or friends or for a holiday. While currently not a core focus, there is great opportunity for South Gippsland to increase business and industry-related visitors given the close proximity to Melbourne.

Australians spend more money per capita on travel than any other country. In the past, Australians have spent over 30 per cent on international travel. But with the current COVID-19 border restrictions likely to remain in place for some time, there are opportunities for this spend to be redirected to domestic travel.

The South Gippsland market has also been dominated by domestic visitors. In the current climate, there are opportunities for the region to capture a greater share of this spend to grow the tourism sector.

The majority of visitors come for day trips, which could be in part due to the region's proximity to Melbourne. Providing more products and experiences to increase day visitor spend and encouraging visitors to stay longer will both bring increased economic benefits.

Tourism Visitation: In 2019 South Gippsland received approximately 1.2 million visitors of which:

Visitors to South Gippsland make up only a small proportion of total visitation to Victoria. Given the proximity to Melbourne, there are opportunities to grow this market.

Promotion of the range of activities available for all age groups presents an opportunity to increase the length of stay. This suggests there could be investment opportunities in the accommodation sector to cater to these markets. Expanded accommodation options may also provide opportunities to grow the conference and business travel market.

Interstate and intrastate travellers will be key to this strategy in the short-term. This presents South Gippsland an opportunity to expand existing and attract new domestic visitors.

As restrictions on international travel ease, a focus on countries where we have a 'travel bubble' may present new opportunities.

The long-term focus includes a return of international travellers. South Gippsland has an exciting opportunity to ready itself to the re-opening of this important visitor group.

The Prom comprises of over 50,000 hectares of wilderness and is host to some of Victoria's most spectacular natural scenery. It attracts over 500,000 visitors annually.

Extending 135km from Nyora to Yarram, the Great Southern Rail Trail will create sustainable tourism and transport opportunities across South Gippsland.

Opportunities to grow the Visitor Economy

Wilson's
Promontory
National Park

Development of the Prom into a world-class, internationally-recognised experience by Parks Victoria is now possible due to funding from the Victorian State Budget. The Wilsons Prom Revitalisation Project (due to be completed by 2023) will protect and enhance the Prom and will be a key driver for the South Gippsland economy.

Strengthened partnerships and collaboration between Council and Parks Vic, and continued advocacy will be important to maintain and improve the Prom's facilities and visitor experiences.

New and complimentary visitor experiences will drive investment and support visitation across the region.

Key improvements include:

- A predator proof fence to create the Prom Sanctuary
- Additional eco-friendly roofed 'pod' accommodation
- New walking track and upgrades including a new all-accessible wildlife track
- New services and infrastructure to help reduce car park congestion
- New information and visitor hub, and education centre.

Great Southern Rail Trail

The Great Southern Rail Trail (GSRT) is currently 72km from Leongatha to Port Welshpool. Passing through many of the region's towns and villages, visitors can stop along the route and enjoy country hospitality. The towns benefit from increased tourism.

By early 2022, the GSRT will be extended to the north from Leongatha to Nyora. This will provide additional opportunities for the community to advocate for and embrace activation of the Shire's small villages with food, hospitality, and art along the trail.

This project was supported by the State Government through the Regional Infrastructure Fund (Leongatha to Korumburra) and Local Sport Infrastructure Fund (Korumburra to Nyora) and the South Gippsland Shire Council.

Recent State Government funding announcements will now allow for the GSRT to be extended from Welshpool to Alberton. Once complete the trail will be approximately 135km extending from Nyora to Yarram and potentially the longest rail trail in Victoria. It will also be an amazing connector to Melbourne and to other parts of Gippsland.

The trail will continue to be a key visitor attraction. It has the capacity to create ancillary experiences in station precincts to provide a space that stimulates and attracts social, cultural and tourist activity. The trail will also provide connections to town centres, pedestrian and cycling connections and new public spaces.

In future, the GSRT will support sustainable tourism, with opportunities for visitors to drive from Melbourne to Nyora, and ride from town to town. As well as the potential to increase investment in accommodation, there will also be opportunities to design trails that link from the main GSRT.

Coal Creek Community Park and Museum

Coal Creek is the largest cultural heritage site in South Gippsland. It is located on Crown Land, and is owned and managed by Council. The museum attracts tourists and provides an opportunity for the community and visitors to connect with the coal mining heritage of the Shire.

Set in the time of 1870-1920, and supported by the local community, Council recognises the potential for this local attraction to continue to make linkages, and grow the profile of local history and heritage in South Gippsland.

Unique Towns and Villages

South Gippsland has several unique villages and towns with their own distinct charm. Each town is different, offering visitors a diverse experience. Many have become popular visitor destinations and others are finding their place in the visitor market. In many of these towns, visitor spend represents a significant proportion of total retail spend.

The proximity to each other (and Melbourne) creates a variety of tourist routes. There are also opportunities to explore on foot, bike, and in some places, by horseback. Increased exposure through marketing activities, creation of touring routes and the extension of the GSRT into the north will create increased opportunities for towns and villages across the region.

Creating opportunities for unique towns, heritage locations and engaging events across South Gippsland

Delicious food, engaging events and experiences

The region's rainfall, fertile soils and pristine waters produce some of Australia's best food. A growing food and beverage sector has options to suit any taste and budget.

Opportunities for growth in the arts and culture sector, developing existing and acquiring new boutique events and markets and diversifying the range of tours will lead to future growth of the visitor economy in South Gippsland.

Improvement of some of the region's hero products (such as The Prom and GSRT) provide opportunities for investment in hospitality to encourage longer stays. Promotion of touring routes and cycling paths, existing and newfound packaged experiences will bring additional avenues for partnerships in the sector.

As we look to evolve our visitor attractions and experiences over the next decade, it is important we set our region up for success. This includes understanding both capabilities and gaps in the foundations of service delivery, such as accommodation availability for both tourist and business visitors. Recognised in our Economic Development Strategy, this brings opportunity for South Gippsland to attract and retain investment across the region.

Caravan and camping

The current closure of international borders due to COVID-19 has seen an increase of caravan and camping holidays within Victoria and Australia. This includes a shift in the market, expanding from grey nomads to families, couples, and young people.

South Gippsland has a number of commercially operated caravan parks, as well low-cost caravan and camping sites.

There are ways to support the caravan and camping sector, and Council recognises the opportunity to identify locations and increase availability of dump points and long vehicle parking. Council will continue to support commercial businesses and work with the community to ensure that local facilities meet consumer needs, and bring further economic benefit to the region.

Expanding our partnerships

As we deliver this strategy to strengthen our visitor economy, we will achieve greater success through collaborations with partners. Council is committed to ongoing engagement with state and regional partners including Destination Gippsland, Parks Vic, Visit Victoria and TEVE (Tourism, Events and Visitor Economy department).

Council will also foster connections with local Chambers of Commerce and business groups. There are opportunities to find new ways to connect with tourism businesses through local business associations as well as regular forums.

Council will also partner with neighbouring local councils such as Bass Coast and Philip Island.

Increasing skilled workers

Growth of the South Gippsland visitor economy brings opportunities for locals to build job-ready skills. As we put focus on evolving and widening our tourism and business attractions over the coming decade, it is important we build the local workforce in parallel.

Working alongside local and regional educational providers, business and industry associations we can understand skill requirements and plan effectively for future skill-based needs.

New domestic opportunities

COVID-19 has had a significant impact on the South Gippsland tourism sector. Businesses will continue to be affected by ongoing disruptions and restrictions. Consumer expectations now include a safe and hygienic environment, booking flexibility and an increase in contactless practices.

Businesses are now catering for the increasing local and interstate market that demands shorter, more frequent, and affordable trips.

Regional visitation is increasing because of consumer preferences for low-density areas and open spaces. This is clear in the increase in visitation and external spend for the region since December 2020. South Gippsland can continue to capitalise on this growth due to its proximity to Melbourne and the growing interest and demand of the south-eastern Melbourne market.

Strengthening our South Gippsland brand

Destination branding is an important component of tourism marketing, and resident and business attraction.

It is driven by three factors; reputation, identity and perception.

Reputation: sum of the beliefs or opinions about the destination. It needs to be built, protected, maintained and changed, if needed.

Identity: driven by authenticity, unique selling points of the destination, consistency and strong personality.

Perception: mostly immaterial experiences, but material experiences can matter. Subjective in the mind of the consumers.

For nearly 20 years, we have promoted South Gippsland using the brand 'Prom Country'. Research in more recent years has identified key brand virtues of the region:

- Natural beauty
- Authentic
- Welcoming
- Relaxing.

These attributes align with the brand framework of the Gippsland wide Destination Management Plan and are used to support the region through our towns and villages, fresh produce and beverage, outdoor activities, and arts and culture.

The Gippsland Brand

Research identified that a brand shift from "wilderness/ big nature" to a holistic view of "nature as a provider" can change the perception of Gippsland.

The new brand "GIPPS All Kinds of Wonder LAND" allows the positioning of the region to move from 'nature only' to nature "plus" other aspects such as food, culture, and events.

The brand development undertaken by Destination Gippsland (DGL) highlighted that the South Gippsland brand resonates with the overall Gippsland brand personality.

The region is warm and welcoming, laid back and unpretentious. Free spirited and adventurous travellers can immerse themselves in the South Gippsland experience.

The new brand platform "GIPPS All Kinds of Wonder LAND", allows for the region to speak to all experiences in Gippsland, including nature. The platform is flexible to include experiences, products and hubs/places. The brand development by DGL highlights how the brand resonates with South Gippsland visitor experiences, destinations, and individual products.

As we leverage inclusion in the regional Gippsland brand, we must embrace and promote our own South Gippsland identity.

GIPPS all kinds of wonder LAND

Benefits from the Gippsland brand

There are many benefits to the visitor economy across South Gippsland from inclusion in the Gippsland brand campaign. These include participating in all types of marketing and promotional initiatives.

Council actively engages with the DGL brand development and delivery team to favourably position the region. Strategic consideration has been conducted by Council as to the positive value inclusion brings to the region.

As we deliver this strategy, we'll continue to advocate for South Gippsland visitor attractions to be promoted in brand campaigns at the wider regional level.

Owning our regional identity

Alongside the many positive benefits from South Gippsland participating in the regional brand campaigns, it is important we embrace, celebrate and promote our own identity.

The strategy consultation process conducted by Council demonstrated a clear desire for South Gippsland to have its own brand and identity. A key focus for Council will be balancing local-focused, state and regional brand opportunities.

As we leverage inclusion in the regional Gippsland brand, we must embrace and promote our own South Gippsland identity.

Vision

The rapid pace of change and the uncertainty from COVID-19 make predicting the future of the visitor economy a complex issue. Based on the history and environment of South Gippsland, it's easy to see a bright future.

Our vision is to make South Gippsland a visitor destination of choice for local and international visitors. We want to increase the contribution of the visitor economy across the region.

Goals

Working with local business, community and stakeholders, we want to build a sustainable and growing visitor economy that:

Increases destination awareness

Grows investment in tourism products

Leverages natural and physical tourism assets

Diversifies the visitor experience

Increases spend per visitor

Makes South Gippsland a year-round destination

Guiding Principles

This strategy focuses on the economic outcomes from visitors. But it also recognises there are other broader social and environmental objectives.

To achieve these objectives, our strategy is guided by a set of principles.

Enabling and solutions focussed

Focussing on enabling beneficial economic activities.

Building our reputation as a Council that facilitates business growth and solves challenges.

People-centric

Building a positive culture in our dealing with business, investors, operators, customers and visitors.

Inclusive

Supporting the diversity of our residents and visitors and reducing activities that exclude people from the benefits of a strong economy.

Building community wealth

Fostering activities that build our collective social, intellectual, cultural and financial assets.

Directing wealth into the local economy and giving local people greater control and benefits.

Triple bottom line

Balancing our economic objectives with social and environmental objectives. Sometimes referred to as People, Profit and Planet.

Strengthening resilience

Creating systems and networks to help us prepare for, withstand, or adapt to major structural changes, economic and natural disasters.

Evidenced-based decision making

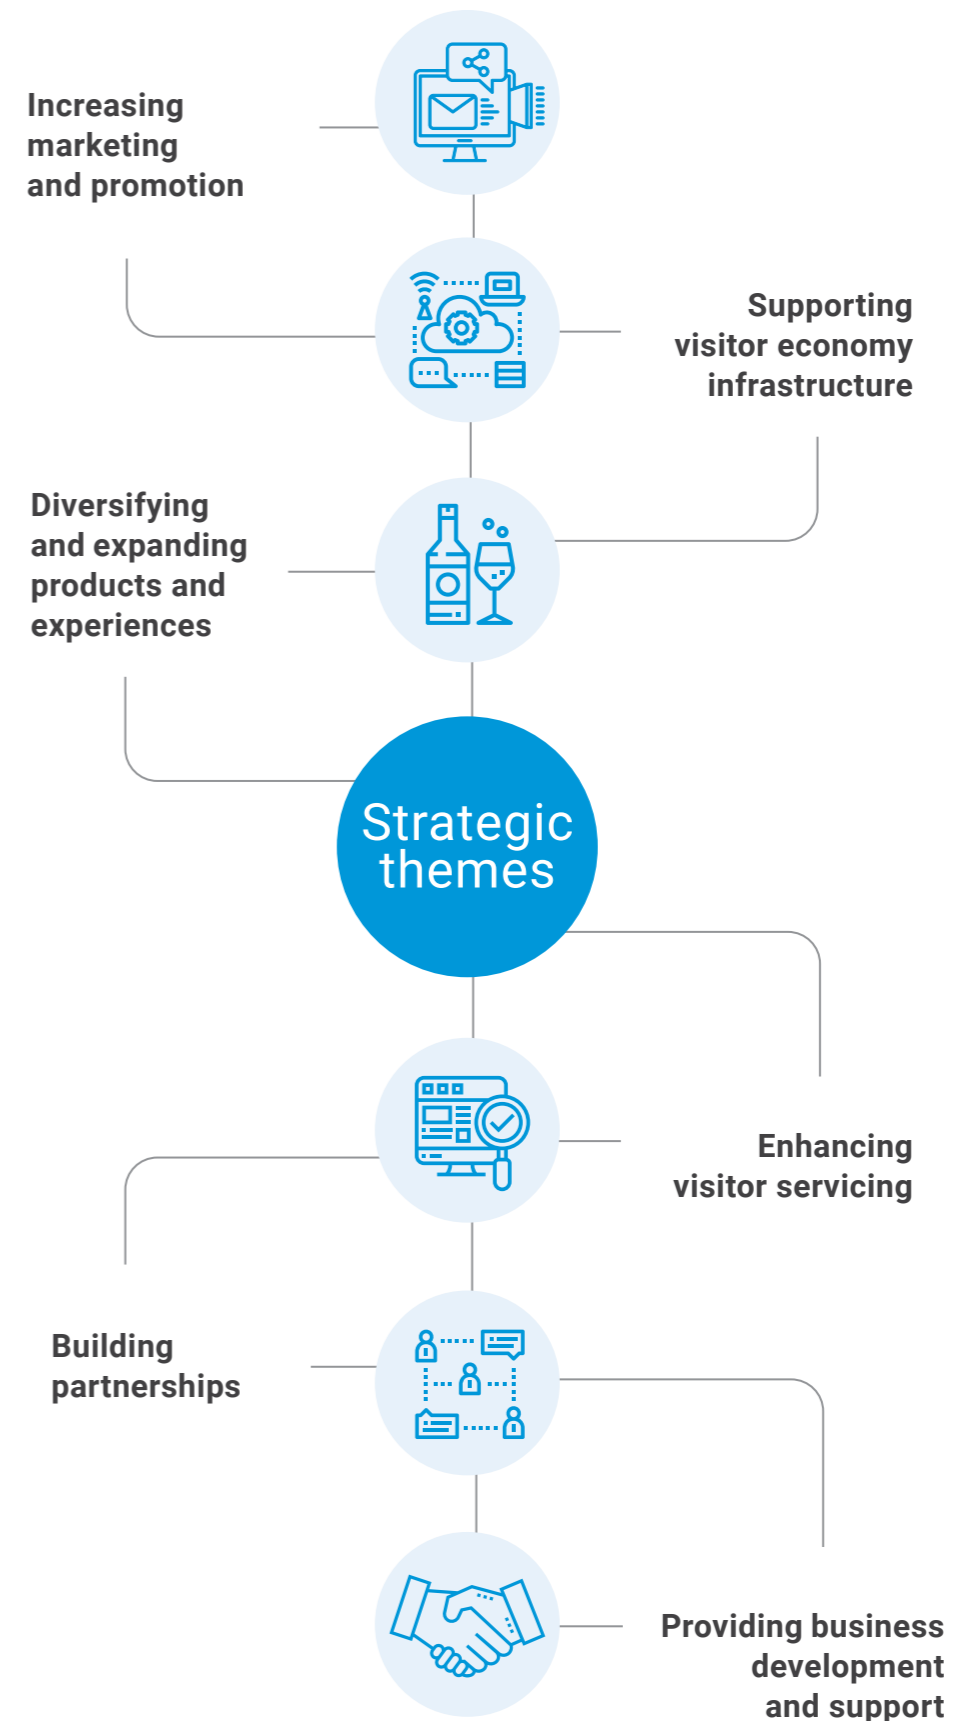

Using data, research and feedback from government, business and the community to implement realistic and viable initiatives.

Strategic Themes

We identified six key themes during the strategy development process.

To ensure the best result, the themes are clear, practical and focused on action. They have been designed to deliver the best results for the South Gippsland visitor economy.

By focusing on these themes, and designing clear actions, we can achieve our goals to grow our visitor economy.

Strategic themes in more detail

Increasing marketing and promotion

This is a key focus for Council. Success relies on developing our region's brand characteristics and ensuring our marketing activities focus on key visitor experiences.

Collaborating with key stakeholders and industry is vital to drive the growth and sustainability of the visitor economy. We need tools to support industry to align with our brand, tell their story and help promote the region.

Strategic actions:

- Strengthen South Gippsland's appeal as a visitor destination through increased brand awareness.
- Highlight regional brand characteristics.
- Raise the profile of South Gippsland's visitor offerings with a range of destination marketing activities to increase visitation.
- Develop innovative ways to promote the region.

Enhancing visitor servicing

There has been a significant shift in the way visitors plan and book travel using modern digital platforms. There is an expectation that regions will evolve to meet the changing needs of the consumer. We need to service visitors at all touch points during their journey.

To improve visitor servicing, the region needs to understand its customer's needs, expectations and travel patterns. Implementing a visitor centric approach to all levels of visitor servicing will enhance the visitor experience.

Strategic actions:

- Enhance the visitor experience by providing high quality engagement assets to create a positive experience in our region.
- Invest in research to understand the market and identify gaps in the visitor journey.

Supporting visitor economy infrastructure

We must continue to advocate for new infrastructure projects to support improved visitor offerings.

We should also advocate for accommodation to meet changing consumer needs. Council needs to identify existing infrastructure that needs upgrading to meet consumer expectations.

Strategic actions:

- Advocate for and support the development of South Gippsland infrastructure to encourage new and existing visitors.
- Encourage greater investment in the accommodation sector to encourage longer visitor stays and greater spend in the region.

Building partnerships

Successful outcomes rely on strong partnerships between government, business, stakeholders and the community. Key strategic partnerships will support and grow the visitor economy.

Strategic actions:

- Build partnerships with stakeholders to develop the visitor economy in South Gippsland.
- Increased community education on the value of the visitor economy to the local economy.

Diversifying and expanding products and experiences

Over the next decade South Gippsland can improve its visitor offering by developing cultural tourism, niche products and events.

We need to attract public and private investment to support the development of the region.

Strategic actions:

- Develop South Gippsland's visitor products and experiences to encourage new and existing markets to visit, stay and spend.

Providing business development and support

This will build skills and increase entrepreneurship. It will also strengthen business resilience and our capacity to create and retain community wealth.

Strategic actions:

- Support the continued growth and development of the tourism sector to deliver high quality visitor experiences.
- Build the skills, training and knowledge of the business community.

Action Plan 2021 – 2031

We have developed an Action Plan with priorities based on Strategy Themes.

From this, we'll develop Annual Action Plans that reflect funding, current priorities, and objectives.

The Action Plan will be a live document subject to ongoing review and adjusted in line with budgetary considerations.

Monitoring, measurement and public reporting will be part of implementing the Action Plan.

The Visitor Economy Strategy Advisory Group (VESAG) will guide the implementation of the Strategy in the first year. This will be undertaken with the support of an implementation committee.

As we implement this plan, we're committed to listening, learning and improving the way we do business.

We'll use our professional skills and knowledge to seek the best outcomes for our community.

And we'll strengthen the elements that make South Gippsland a great place to visit.
